THE ORIENTAL BUBBLE.

The mock campaign of General Flores, with all its exciting details, as given by our imaginative colleagues, drawing to a close; the crusaders of Liberty, who took their inspirations from Buenos Ayres are sadly crest-fallen, "hiding their diminished heads" in peach-mounte and maize plantations. Meantime no head-fought fields, no daring feats of arms, no blood-stained trophies, no captured fortress, not even the ridiculous chronicle of the month: a ganger has been killed, some horned cattle carried off unceremoniously, and a band of Free Lances (with all the romantic barbarism of mediaeval Italy) career at will through the length and breadth of the Republic.

Verily the philanthropists of this city have reason to be proud of their work. After experiencing all the horrors of civil war, for 10 years, Argentines have still such a sympathy for revolution, invasion, and anarchy that they foster the venemous elements until ripe, and, when the plague bursts with destructive fury on a neighbouring state, sing Alleluya over the infernal orgies. The journals of Buenos Aires, with this so litary exception, advocated the cause of incendiarism, and Government, while professing neutrality, lent an indirect assistance to the filibusters, by keeping in high official confidence the trumpeter of this heroic band.

The blessings of Heaven, so fervently invoked in the President's Message, will not descend upon these countries, until a spirit of peace and friendship take root among us. Neutrality is a sham in the present case, since there can be no medium between outrage and justice. When a neighbours house is attacked with conflagration, no man has the right to look calmly on. When Flores' invasion was so notorious that the Government thought fit to warn General Urquiza, it was high time to use some activity in preventing the escape of the Filibuster from Entre Rios.

It is equally foolish and criminal to allege that our Government could take no cognizance of conspiracy, or adopt no measures to frustrate the plans of the revolutionaries. In the case of Orini, Allsop and Dr Rennard, the British Government would have highly obliged to drag to trial those who had been guilty of conspiracy against a neighbouring government; for this is a crime against the Law of Nations. The imputation reflected on Argentine honor is the more serious, as Flores enjoyed the friendship and favor of our highest dignitaries, nor can Dr Varela's successors in office prove and cabinet ever hope to acquit his honor companions, of complicity in the scandal.

The bubble has now burst, and we shall have no relaisrissement of rather a disgraceful character, than the summers of diplomat ic protests by Italy and Portugal, but even if the representatives of the great European powers insist on their demands they will be both unprofitable and misplaced.

The issue will bring confusion on Argentine councils: if the invasion had succeeded, our politicians would be merely open to the charge of infamy, denunciation, and conspiracy; but the shameful retreat of Flores from Salto, shows that inter-national treason has been at last with a just castigation from the Most High who wills "peace on earth to men of good will."

NEW CUSTOMS LAW.

The proposed law of the Custom Houses has now been before the commercial body for seven days, and to be allowed by the 48 hours have been quite sufficient to the effect and discuss all practical faults. Opinions vary regarding many of the details of the measure. Importers have hitherto had no home to fall back upon, and the national burdens, are disposed to think an injustice is about to be done them. This is nothing more than might have been expected. There is no doubt, however, that if the measure is passed into law, and the principles on which it is based be adopted as the foundation of the future commercial policy of the country, an immense step will have been made to the practical application of sound principles of taxation. For our own part, we think it is a mistake to make the revenues depend so entirely on the import and export duties. It were found practical and expedient, landed and other real property should be made to contribute more directly to the national resources. This mode of taxation has many advantages, on the ground of simplicity and economy of collection. It is however, the less popular, as it is the most direct mode of raising money and, in the present position of the Confederation, it would be injudicious to aggravate existing grievances by the unpleasant addition of an income tax. So far as it goes, however, we like the measure, it is a step in the right direction. While the industries of many nations are groaning under the restriction of a cunningly-devised system of protection and compensation, and others, more fortunate, are only beginning to breathe freely, after bending under the swelling burden of an antique legislation, we—thanks to the intelligence and liberality of our talented Minister of Finance—are about to take a further step in the path of commercial and national progress.

We are sorry, however, to see the measure hampered with so many details a state of things that is rapidly passing away. The most ancient of these is the concession in Art. 2 in favor of manufactures. This is further specified of a similar class. Even in countries that most consistently practise free trade, and where customs' duties are looked upon as merely a means of revenue for the expenses of government, a totally different course is followed. In England, for example, the duties are levied on raw materials first, article, of daily consumption next, and articles of luxury, as wines and spirits, last. The same system in this matter in order is reversed. Raw materials for manufacturing purposes, woollens, cottons, articles of daily domestic consumption, the highest rate of duty, while silks, jewellery, and similar articles, pay the lowest rate. The elegant trifle and the luxury are looked upon as essential and hard-won necessaries of the industrious. The partial exemption, we apprehend, is not defensible, on principle or expediency. The measure provides also for the payment of the duties by importers, at three and six months, and for the acceptance at six months. We are at a loss to understand how it is purposed to make this change. The position of the foreign merchant in this country does not appear to us to have been sufficiently considered. Those who are conversant with the business of importation know well that our import and export trade is conducted, for the most part, on foreign capital. Nearly all our exports are paid for in gold, while, as it is still able to walk into the corral: and not only are all our importations brought here by the same capital, but they are sold on long credits to the importers until they are wanted. Besides this, they sell at a credit of six months, to give the local dealer time to convert their purchase into money. Hitherto, six months have been accustomed to importers to pay duties on a certain amount, and little accommodation it is proposed to reduce to an average of four and a-half. The gain to Government is six weeks' interest, but the Law of Nations.

The imputation reflected of the country still more nearly on foreign capital.

We are sorry, also, to see that an error of principle has crept into Art. 6 in favor of being perpetuated. It has been customary hitherto to re-arrange the tariff of valuations every six years, a practice which has proved, at once a quarter. The objection to this, on the part of importers, is the element of uncertainty introduced into all business transactions. The duty to-day is known, but what it may be six months hence is uncertain. When a change may be made, the practice is to delay the entry in anticipation of a fall, or unduly accelerated, as a protection against a rise. This may not be liable to be avoided altogether, but a sweeping change of this nature only arterly or twice a year is surely too often.

It also appears to us to be very inconvenient for the Minister of Finance. It is necessary both for him and the Government that they should be able to investigate, at the commencement of the financial year, what income they can calculate on during the ensuing twelve months. Under the most favourable circumstances this would be difficult; but, under the present system or periodical change, it is simply impossible. Comparing one year with another, the totals of imports and exports will be found to bear a certain relation to each other: but he would be more than a genius who would venture to prophesy the value of any article in our tariff six months hence.

Apart altogether from the great errors which exist in order to examine, it is for the interest and convenience of the Government that the valuations of both imports and exports should be placed on a more permanent and stable basis.

EDITOR'S TABLE

Where is Sandes? This is the great question of the day. Even the Flores affair is forgotten in the anxiety about our Argentine Lord Clyde. We stated that the Pavon, on last Thursday, would bring a flat contradiction of, either the Flores or defeat: but it has brought us neither, and we are all still in doubt as to his whereabouts. The "Cigio" professing to know as much about him as the renowned rather shirks these last few days. We should greatly regret that President Mitre would lose so valuable a subject, as he will had he agreed to the plan? We dislike throwing cold water on a scheme which, if properly carried out, is quite practicable; but we have so little proof of public spirit in our native capitalist, that we confess we doubt if such a company could be started in this city.

We perceive that the Govern nent has at last taken up the Chascomus railway question, and learn with much pleasure, that there is every disposition on the part of the Governor, to give the facility every which the Fiscal put forth. The law is to be brought before the house with a view to amend it. The plan of the bridge over the San Francisco, we learn is also, and certainly we must admit, that it reflects credit on, the company. A solid iron bridge, not of 20 or 30 yards, but of 400 yards resting on piles, is, as our friend, the Fiscal, could only see the drawings of this bridge, and also, of the Station, and workshops, &c. he would, probably, overcome his scruples.

The application for a loan to redeem the paper dollars, it appears hangs on the fate of the Chascomus railway; in fact, if the truth be told, every enterprize in the country more or less, depends on the fate of the railway. It is dissolved, the credit of Buenos Ayres is valued in London; no capitalist will lend five pounds on our securities.

Considerable apprehension is felt in town on the Peterhoff question. From the tenor of Earl Russell's despatch, it would appear that facilities were anticipated; several of our correspondents state that their letters speak of an unusually feeling amongst merchants on the subject. But the Legal Intelligencer asserts that the restitution of the steamer and payment of damages will not be sufficient. The American Government must apologize and punish Capt Wilkes, this, of course, is out of the question. The Economist is very bit ter and severe on the subject, and we war with England will be the ultimate solution of the unhappy American difficulties.

The Post office authorities, assert that some of the clerks were sick, and that therefore, the delivery of the mails was delayed. Nothing is certain, Morris was not there, and it is generally believed about town, that without this indefinite cable clerk, the Post office concerns would not be worth a rush. When we gone to look for Flores, but this, we conclude, as we believe that the information in question was slightly indisposed.

We are glad to perceive that the free Banking question has been taken up by our talented friend, Mr. Rous. The gentleman has sound practical common sense, and previous to any law on the question command attention. We regret to remark that he overlooks the great difficulty in an extension of credit least susceptible of fluctuation. We beg to call his attention to this point. The national securities, unless hypothecated to a certain extent, in London cannot be trusted to. Railway or Bank shares there are none. A country so wholly dependent on its securities we have hardly ever known.

The Diplomatic visitors from Montevideo seem to have troubled our Cabinet. Whether from accidentally, but they came about it pretended to be a great mystery. Our readers, however, are not so ruthless as to be in the least doubt. They came upon a just, proper, and legal ground. The explanations given them, we hope, have been satisfactory. The Constitution of the Republic of the Uruguay is guaranteed by the foreign powers. They have a right to know why an extraordinary Session was allowed to leave our shores to plunge the country into the horrors of civil war.

A subscriber in Rojas writes us, that since he came to the country, he has never known of a more prosperous year for sheep-farmers than the present; the lambing season in that partido has been the best ever known; the camps are in splendid condition, and the sheep are in fattle fat."

The Queen's levee was nothing to the squeeze at Colon the other night; the young ladies coming out of the Cazuela were jammed so, that exit for a while was impossible; the young men it appears, were like the policemen, so anxious to get a peep at the girls, that they almost broke the whole garage in scrambling of intrinsiques, indiscriminate joking with the fair sex was never known before in Colon.

In the Post office on Friday afternoon, there was also a crush, the crowd was so great that when the doors were opened by the clerks they were smashed and even the counter in front of the boxes was threatened for a time.

THE GREAT CENTRAL ARGENTINE RAILWAY.

Yesterday Mr. Wheelwright's contract, was brought before Congress and on the first reading passed by a majority of 3 votes. On the second reading, however, an amendment was proposed, as regards the right to cut timber, which the house considered should not be conceded or confined to the provinces consenting. An amendment to that effect was proposed. but it varied the original contract, it was decided that Mr. Wheelwright should be consulted.

The Chamber retired for a few minutes to the Minister of the Interior having arrived, the discussion continued. It was explained that the provinces would not oppose the right to cut down timber which is actually held valueless.

The article was passed unanimously

Each succeeding d ssue from 5 to 25 cents, supported by Mr. Navarro and Alsina, the former wasting much time with absurd criticism, and both withdrawing their opposition before putting the vote.

Gen. Madarriaga was also rather obstinate. In article 21 the width of 5 feet 6 inches between the rails was altered by the committee inconvenient as Mess. Wheelwright and Rumball testified that the narrow lines were universally used in England, Fra ce, and the U. States.

Sor Frias preferred leading to the article as it stood and the same width as in our B. Ayresan lines.

The article was suppressed with one dissentient vote (Frias).

An attempt was passed in like manner; permitting the N. Executive to arrange the question of width.

The other articles were passed without opposition and the contract ratified.

The Chamber rose at 5 p m.

It is rumored that in the Deputies the bill will meet with opposition and several members have declared their dislike to having the whole country turned into a foreign colony. People whose habits, customs, and even the language are so different, better the Indians itself, than such a wholesale invasion of Europeans as is projected.

GREECE.

Athens, Monday.

The National Assembly to-day unanimously proclaimed Prince William George, second son of Prince Christian of Denmark, to the title of George I., King of the Greeks.

His successors will profess the orthodox religion.

A deputation of three members, chosen by the Ministry, will proceed to Copenhagen to offer him the Crown in the name of the Greek nation.

"A Te Deum" was celebrated to day, and was followed by public festivities, illuminations, and general rejoicings."

ARGENTINE ITEMS ABROAD.

Buenos Ayres 6 per cent bonds are declining, last quotation being 93.

The Buenos Ayres Great Southern railway has probably had a pernicious effect, and it is said the London capitalists refuse a loan to redeem our paper money, until Pete Bett's contract be ratified.

Major Rickard, after inspecting the smelting establishment of his son-in-law Ireland-re heart-rending, and his making arrangements thereto bring a company for an agricultural scheme in S. Juan. He is getting the requisite machinery made under the superintendence, and will leave England for Buenos Ayres about the end of July.

At the marriage of the Prince of Wales, the Argentine republic was represented by our Consul general Sampson, and Major Rickard, who walked in the State procession.

We have received the following letter from the eminent bankers Messrs. Guinness and Mahon of College-green, Dublin.

M. G. Mulhall

Dear Sir,—We have paid your Subscription (£1) to the O'Connell fund, and are much obliged by the offer of your papers you are so good as to forward us, and which gives such a favorable account of your adopted country. We were very happy to see your friend, Major Rickard, and we regret we had not the opportunity of further communication with him.

You seem to have many Irish settlers and I think wi l have more from this country, as the last harvests have been very bad: how are the new Bulks likely to do with you?

Yours truly

"Argentine Consulate,"
Liverpool, 8th April 1863:

Messrs. M. G. & E. T. Mulhall

Buenos Ayres.

Dear Sirs,—In your far too flattering remarks, contained in the "Weekly Standard" of 26th February, you quote from my despatch to the Argentine Government,—6378 passengers as having left this port for Buenos Ayres during the past year which is a misprint for 16,378 (sixteen thousand) as the list of printed names of the passengers appearing on the Consular books being 378, only, tho' from causes already explained, many others have undoubtedly gone forward without any actual observation: this fact, tho' of little importance, I mention for the sake of accuracy.

A remarkably clever prize essay has just been read "on the lamb disease of which parasites in the lungs are generally the cause or consequence." Sor Don Edward Crisp, M. R. C. S. of London, to whom I have written on the subject: it is on the Eve of just being published in a Agricultural pamphlet but by telegram, I, to-day hear that it will be delayed in the press for a few days, as he is unable to send it by this mail. but by next. I hope to forward it to you for publicity, in the hopes that by it, service may be rendered to the interests of River Plate sheep farmers generally, both Natives and Foreigners; or at all events, from such of the parts as you may conceive practical on the Western Coast of South America.

Sr Don Edward Fitzgerald's body guard on the night of his collision with the late Major Sirr in 1798.

A letter from Madrid speak of an incident which has caused some agitation in the higher circles of the Spanish capital:—"The Duchess de Per nafiel has been invited, with the rest of the Queen, to the ball which she is about to give, Madame de Lagrange, at present singing at Opera at Madrid, and who to her great talent adds the merit of irreproachable character. The invitation has, however, excited a complete tempest in the fashionable world, and one half of the persons invited, and particularly some ladies of the diplomatic body, have declared that their dignity would not allow them to be in the same salon as Madame Lagrange. There the matter rests for the present.

COMMERCIAL NEWS;

Liverpool, April 7th.

Since our last the arrivals from the River Plate have been the Hourly Supreme, Lanes Castle, Lanes Castle Arms, bringing 1174 dry ox and cow hides, and 878 dry and 7244 salted hides. There have likewise arrived the Anita and I. O. from Buenos Aires, the Wellington from Montevideo, the Ingarnia from the Uruguay, and the Clarkwarter from Adelaide from Rio Grande, with cargoes of wool, bones, and bone ash, &c. From other quarters the principal arrivals of hides have been 16,868 dry and 2425 salted West Coast, 3500 dry salted Brazil, 1514 salted North America, 5,000 East Indian, and 1,000 Cape.

The past month has again been characterised by extreme dullness in the market for salted hides. River Plate wools have, from time to time been taken at extreme rates by the trade, to complete small cribes, whilst light or low conditioned wools without any inquiry. At the early part of February the relatively low price of Cows attracted some attention, and as holders were obviously disposed to meet the market, several considerable parcels of both River Plate and Rio Grande were placed at a slight decline on previous current rates.

LOCAL EVENTS.

NORTHERN RAILWAY.—The advertisements in one of the papers appeared wrong this week and many of the passengers have complained of being obliged to wait over a couple hours at the station.

This shold be prevented by a careful examination of the advertisemen' sheet.

MONTEVIDEO.—We learn that Don Dr. Manuel Flores, ex minister General's brother) Colonel Garcia, Don Gabriel Ruiz, Sr. Pifieiro and Sr. Rigardi, suggested balloons have been engineered for manufacture of political offences.

AMORTIZEMENT.—Of the 160 millions emitted in 1859 and 1863 there are now in circulation only 111 the balance having been burnt already.

Notwithstanding specie is higher than ever, emissions were made.

SUICIDE.—A man was found this week hanging from a tree in the Southern suburbs of the city near the Quinta de Salud.

His clothes and money were found safe which is an evident surmise that he committed suicide.

IMMIGRANTS.—Arrivals from Genoa this week amount to from 450 to 500 Italians.

At this rate Buenos Ayres must ere long become an Italian city.

FINE ESTANCIA.—The Eco del Rio Negro states that the valuable estancia, Isabel Fernanda situated in Guardamay, the property of Sr Cayras y Sampere has been sold to Messrs Gowland and Leslie of this city for the sum of 125,000 dollars.

WRESTLING MATCH—another one is to take place to day at the Victoria theatre.

PUBLIC OFFICIALS.—The Chamber of Senators rejected the project presented in the night's sitting for the increase of 20 per cent on the salaries of public officials.

THE LIES.—Perhaps to night at Colon will be the most completely renowned those of our readers who have not seen them to go there. They are the best artists who have performed in this city and it is impossible to name the highest as for their brilliant feats without ocular demonstration

THE LYRICAL.—The Spanish Opera Company perform to-night at Colon with Masses Lees Brothers and the French Ballet retire from Colon

It is expected that we shall have an operatic company by July, composed of the same artists who performed at the Victoria theatre.

Sr Pestalardi left on Wednesday per Saintonge for Rio Janeiro to contract for some singers who are said to be disengaged in that city.

PRESIDENT MITRE—Has been elected an honorary member of the historical institute of France.

THE MOSQUITO.—Is the title of a new comic paper which will be published in a few days.

It will contain caricatures and is to be chiefly of a political character

We wish the new paper a long life but have serious doubts as to its success.

ON 'CHANGE

May 16th.

Ounces opened at 44⅛ and declined steadily to 44 last price. We remarked there have been no sales on remain, the demand for the end of the month. 22⅝ asked for each.

100 for May 31st at 44⅞.

100 for June 30th at 44⅝.

In the places and deposits there has been some animation: the stock of wool is limited and estimated at under 130 to 140 arrobas. The sales of ox hides remain in fair demand. Sales to-day as follows.

Wool—2000 arrobas Bac mediqua at 22; 1000 do at 22 to 100; 9000 do mixed at 66, 4 to 5000 dozen private terms. Sheepskins.—300 dozen at 100, 150 & 85.

Dry hides.—320 common camp at 115, 120 do at 110.

In the 13-ha we notice very little animation, the only sale we know of it is as follows.

500 Cordova dry hides 38 1/2 reis.

A few hides have been effected for which particulars not yet transpired; we shall publish them in our next issue.

The money market at the close of the week is easy. A good demand for gold exists, but paper is abundant. Ounces dropped to-day, owing to some heavy sales, to 44⅛ and the current Exchange has shown its effect on our produce market: wool is weak, and salted hides unbooked for. The politics of the week have been very prejudicial effect on our market: nothing seems stable, even life. Wheelwright's contract, which last week ago we felt so sanguine, is now we hear, to be opposed in the Deputies. An honest expression of opinion upon our present "status quos," would be highly useful to the unscrupulosities of the members of the "Crockery Club," but although anxious as we are, to look at matters in their true light, we cannot conceal from our native friends, the annoyance and displeasure foreigners feel at these eternal rows, such as Flores and Sandes are commencing. There are few who can see the way out of our present difficulties; paper money, low prices of produce, ounces now now at here 440 as their average price. The saladeros in the Uruguay are stopped.

From Montevideo we learn that business is extremely dull and still. From Rosario our correspondent writes us that unless some stringent measures are resorted to, we shall never get rid of these revolutionaries. On change things looked very dulli every one seemed dissatisfied and confidence was greatly disturbed.

Holloway's Ointment

And Pills

Bad Legs, Piles and Fistulas

The cures which this Ointment effects in bad legs, bad breasts, old wounds, and which have resisted all other applications, as well as in curing bad legs, Piles, and Fistulas, have been so numerous and so notorious throughout the world that any effort to give an adequately detailed statement of their power or character would be vain. It is sufficient to say that the Ointment has never proved ineffectual

Both the Ointment and Pills should be used in the following cases:

Bad Legs	Gout
Bad Breasts	Glandular Swellings
Burns	Lumbago
Bite of Mosquitoes	Piles
Blood-Poisons	Rheumatism
Bunions	Scalds
Chilblains	Sore Nipples
Coco-Bay Itch	Sore-throats
Corns	Skin-diseases
Contracted and Stiff Joints	Stings of Insects
Elephantiasis	Ulcers
Fistulas	Wounds

Sold at the Establishment of Professor Holloway, 244, Strand, (near Temple Bar) London: and by all respectable Druggists and Dealers in Medicine throughout the civilized world, at the following prices:—1s. 1½d., 2s. 9d., 4s. 6d., 11s., 22s and 33s each pot.
